STARS and STRIPES

By ANTHONY LAMB

Over in the corner of the prison yard a private war was being waged. As far as Joe Ferrelli was concerned, the honor of his country was at stake and he was saying so in no uncertain terms. The battle hadn't risen from the word stage yet, but from the look in Joe's infuriated eye—it was on its way to becoming an epoch in fisticuff history.

"Whatta you mean, you no love your country. De United States of America—she's de besta, most beautiful land in de whole wide worl'. You no believe me, Johnny Carver—you crook!"

Johnny snorted with contempt—"Who's callin' who a crook? You ain't in here jest for the experience yourself, Ferrelli."

But the excited Italian simply overlooked that statement and went on: "You tell me, in what other country have they such a fina jails as thisa one? Sucha fina food. Sucha good man for warden? You tell me that, Hahl! You're an ungrateful peeg. A dirty, yellow—"

Joe didn't go on any further. Johnny's fist had come up from the ground, where he had been sitting, and smashed across Ferrelli's babbling jaw. "You can call me anything but yella, you punk!"

The other cons already had firm grips on both the men and were slowly drawing them apart.

"Cut it, you dumb dopes—you want to bring the guard over here?"

The shadow of an armed guard on the prison wall served to cool down

Ferrelli, and Johnny sullenly slumped back to a sitting position. Old Man Moe, an inmate of long standing, edged over to Carver.

"Listen, kid, take a word of advice from an old timer who's seen a lot of life, of war and crime. Just because you weren't smart enough to stay on the right side of the law, don't go shooting off your mouth about this country and this government. It gave you a chance—you just didn't know how to take it."

Johnny's eyes smoldered as his head sank into the hunch of his shoulders. He grunted. "Chance? What kind of a chance? A Chinaman's. Yeah, that's where I grew up, back of Chinatown. I didn't see any think that looked like sunshine or hope—or a chance. I had to fight my way up. And just because I talked like a bum, because my pop was too tired and too disgusted to teach me better, jest because I dressed like a bum and kept company with bums because there was no better—I couldn't get a decent job. What did my country do for me then? What's it doin' for all the others. Look at Black Bill over there. What about his people? What did Lincoln free them for—so they could be free to die like rats—no one'll give them half a chance? I say we ought to give the whole country back to the Indians—admit we cheated 'em in the first place. A fine bunch of skunks we white men turned out to be."

"I'm glad you said 'we,' Johnny. You can take the blame on yourself, too. Sure, there's still plenty wrong with this country. You and I are good examples of it. But we still have got the right to stand up and say it. It's up to all of us to change things if they're wrong. Listen, kid, I've had a lot of time to do a lot of thinking. I know what I'm talking about. Some day, maybe, you'll know, too."

"Brother, I'm gettin' out of this joint in ten days. And I'm not going to stop to think. I'll tell you what, though—I'm going to look for that chance you're yapping about. I'm giving this country one more try to let me go straight. If that don't work—well, I'll be seein' ya, if you haven't croaked by the time they send me back here."

Johnny was lobster red from the steam of the laundry room as he poled the grey uniforms out of the washing machines. The man at the next machine was Rick Carlson, a quiet man whose unfriendly ways had always antagonized Johnny. But Rick seemed in a cheerful mood today.

"Gettin' out same time I am, aren't you, Johnny?"

"Uhuh—what's it to you?"

"Thought I might be able to do something for you. I've got some friends that are working on a big job—maybe I can work you in. You're the kind of a guy we need."

"I'm going straight. I don't want to listen to you," snorted Johnny.

Rick's voice was smooth. "This isn't the kind of job you think, Johnny. I've heard you talk about this government and how you'd like to get back at 'em. I'm going to give you a chance—a chance to show 'em."

Johnny's eyes shone bright blue through the steam. He was interested.

A week later, Johnny was seated in a dingy office looking across a cluttered desk. A worried frown creased his brow as he spoke to the man opposite.

"You've got me out of plenty of jams, Goldman. And just because I had to take the rap on that last little job, I don't hold it against you. You're a good mouthpiece. Now I want some advice on a job I'm supposed to pull."

"Johnny," Lou Goldman, the shrewd, dark haired little lawyer interrupted, "I thought you were through with pulling jobs. I told you I'd help you go on the level."

"Yeah, but this means an awful lot of dough. The only thing is—I never killed anybody—and this may mean someone's going to get killed. You see, a couple of whacky guys I know—belong to some foreign organization that doesn't want America to be making so many guns and stuff. They want me to help them wreck a munitions—"

"I don't want to hear any more, Johnny. When you were just a crook—and not such a bad one—I was willing to listen—but when you turn traitor—"

Johnny sneered—but the sneer seemed to fade away from his face as he talked. "Aw—don't give me that—B—but I—somehow didn't think it was right anyway. If I got caught—"

Lou Goldman leaned across his desk and grabbed Johnny's hand. "It isn't a case of being caught. Do you know who these people are and what kind of a country they're working for? I do. Wait a minute, Johnny. I want to introduce you to a man who just came to America from their country. Hey, Morris, come in here."

Johnny looked up as a tall, stooped man slowly entered. He was pitifully thin. A livid red scar bore evidence of a whip lash across his face. The life seemed to be flickering in his his faded eyes.

"See, Johnny. They put Morris in a concentration camp just because he was of a minority race—and because his hair wasn't blonde—he wasn't an Aryan! You don't want to work for a country like that. Why, in America we don't treat our worst criminals like that. The reason you've always been dissatisfied is because you have ideals. But you haven't the guts to fight for them."

That was all Johnny needed. Without a word he jumped up and stalked out of the office. In five minutes he stalked into Rick Carlson's apartment where he was sitting in a smoky room surrounded by the rest of his gang.

"Hey, Rick, come here, I want to talk to you—" Johnny grabbed the other's collar and twirled him about so that he could glare right into Rick's startled eyes—"You dirty, yellow traitor!"

Like sure, swift flashes of lightning, Johnny's fists went to work on the mob. He didn't know how many there were. He didn't care. All his tremendous energy was packed in the fury of his punches and he let them fly.

When he left the place, inert bodies were strewn in sloppy heaps about the room. A tornado might have just passed through the room.

Johnny strode down the street in the sunshine. A new purpose added inches to his stride. He paused as he came to the big building that took up a whole block. He saluted the soldier at the gate of the armory. "Listen, Bud, I can't enlist because of my prison record, but will you tell me how I can give my services in civilian duty?"

"You bet, kid. Come right in."

by STORRY WEAVER

HE CHARGES DOWN THE STEEP MOUNTAINSIDE... IN THREE MINUTES HE COVERS THE FIFTEEN MILES TO RED DOG.

SUDDENLY.

SMOKE COMIN' FROM RED DOG TOWNSHIP SECTION.

AS HE WATCHES, THREE RENEGADE INDIANS PADDLE AWAY

PAUL PICKS UP A HUGE ROCK..

AND CASTS IT LIKE A PEBBLE TOWARD THE OPPOSITE SHORE..

THE BOULDER LANDS IN FRONT OF THE CONSPIRATORS, CASCADING OIL OVER THEM..

THE INDIANS FLEE IN TERROR..

ONCE AGAIN RETURNING TO THE FIRE, PAUL BEGINS TEARING DOWN "BIG STICKS"..

DRIVING AND PILING THEM INTO THE RIVER, HE QUICKLY CREATES A DAM..

WHICH BACKS WATER HIGH OVER THE SHORES AND QUENCHES THE FIRE..

WHEN PAUL GOES BACK TO RED DOG EVERYBODY IS AT THE WATERFRONT WITH MAKE-SHIFT FIRE-FIGHTING TOOLS..

THE OVERJOYED PEOPLE THROW A "BING" IN PAUL'S HONOR.. FOR TEN MILES UP AND DOWN THE VALLEY, PAUL'S VOICE IS HEARD.. LOUDER THAN ALL THE REST..

NEXT MONTH PAUL RETURNS IN ANOTHER TALLTIMBER TALES IN NATIONAL COMICS.

MERLIN

THE MAGICIAN

GAA-A!

BY
BLACKWOOD

FAR AWAY IN THE HIMALAYA MOUNTAINS IS THE FORBIDDEN TEMPLE OF "THE MAN-EATING SPIDER," HOME OF THE GIANT KHOTAN BUDDHA OF THE ALL-SEEING EYE. THE ALL-SEEING EYE IN THE IDOL'S FOREHEAD IS A HUGE DIAMOND, FOR WHOM CAPTURE COUNTLESS MEN HAVE TRIED AND FAILED.

AT THIS VERY MOMENT ONE MORE ADVENTURER PAYS WITH HIS LIFE AS HE TRIES TO POSSESS THE "EYE". FOR THE PENALTY OF FAILURE IN THE TEMPLE OF THE MAN-EATING SPIDER IS DEATH!

IN THE VALLEY BELOW, ANOTHER ADVENTURER IS LEAVING KATMANDU AND HEADS IN THE DIRECTION OF THE TEMPLE.

THE LONELY TRAVELLER IS MERLIN THE MAGICIAN.

AFTER MANY DAYS OF ARDUOUS CLIMBING, MERLIN STANDS AT THE GATES OF THE TEMPLE.

WITH MY COMMAND OF MAGIC, MAYBE I'LL HAVE BETTER LUCK THAN MY PREDECESSORS. IF I CAN GET THAT DIAMOND IT WILL SWELL THE BRITISH WAR RELIEF FUND!

WONDER WHAT THAT INSCRIPTION SAYS?

THE MAGICIAN NEXT FINDS HIMSELF ON A BALCONY, AND ACROSS THE ABYSS IN FRONT OF HIM IS THE WEB OF THE GIANT SPIDER, AGOR!

SUDDENLY MERLIN IS SHOT FORWARD INTO SPACE, AS A SECTION OF THE FLOOR HE IS STANDING ON TURNS OUT TO BE A CATAPULT!

RIGHT INTO THE WEB!

BELOW HIM IS A DEEP WELL IN WHICH AN OCTOPUS WATCHES-AND WAITS!

ABOVE HIM AGOR THE SPIDER COMES DOWN TO GREET HIS VICTIM!

IN DESPERATION MERLIN GESTURES!

AND TO THE EYES OF THE SPIDER THE MAGICIAN APPEARS AS A GLASS OF WINE!

SIPPING THE POTENT LIQUOR AND INHALING ITS FUMES, THE SPIDER BECOMES INTOXICATED!

AGOR LOSES HIS GRIP ON THE WEB AND PLUNGES TO HIS DOOM IN THE OCTOPUS TANK!

RESUMING HUMAN FORM AGAIN, MERLIN CLIMBS UP THE WEB -

HE FINDS HIMSELF INSIDE THE HUGE HEAD OF THE IDOL!

AS THE MAGICIAN CRAWLS OUT THE MOUTH OF THE BUDDHA HE FINDS HIMSELF NOT FAR FROM THE DIAMOND EYE!

I HAVE IT! IT'S MINE! I'VE DONE IT!

AN ARROW THUDS INTO THE IDOL - INCHES FROM THE MAGICIAN'S HEAD!

AT THE BASE OF THE BUDDHA, NANG TU, THE HIGH PRIESTESS, COMMANDS HER SAVAGE UNDERLINGS TO SHOOT AT MERLIN!

AGAIN MERLIN GESTURES!

AT THE MAGICIAN'S COMMAND THE ARCHERS TURN INTO BATS - ALL BUT NANG TU, WHO IS A SORCERESS!

I'VE NEVER FOUGHT A WOMAN - BUT SHE IS A BEAST!

SNARLING WITH RAGE, THE PRIESTESS ADVANCES AND HURLS HER DOUBLE POINTED SPEAR AT MERLIN!

THE SPEAR STICKS SOLIDLY IN THE BASE OF THE HUGE IDOL!

SAVAGELY THE TWO FIGHT HAND-TO-HAND FOR POSSESSION OF THE DIAMOND EYE!

MAGICALLY INCREASING HIS STRENGTH, MERLIN IS ABLE TO FORCE HIS FIERCE ASSAILANT BACKWARD!

AND IMPALES HER ON THE END OF THE SPEAR!

THAT'S THE END OF HER!

WITH THE HUGE DIAMOND SECURE IN HIS POSSESSION, MERLIN LEAVES.

I THINK THIS PLACE AND ITS FOUL INHABITANTS OUGHT TO BE DESTROYED!

THIS ROCK WILL DO THE TRICK!
EMOCEB A BMOB!

AT A DISTANCE FROM THE BUILDING, THE MAGICIAN HURLS THE STONE AT THE TEMPLE!

WHILE IN THE AIR, THE ROCK TURNS INTO A DEMOLITION BOMB!

AND IN AN EARTH-SHAKING EXPLOSION THE TEMPLE OF THE MAN-EATING SPIDER VANISHES FROM THE FACE OF THE EARTH!

LATER - IN A CHARTERED AIRPLANE MERLIN FLIES BACK TO BRITAIN!

AT NUMBER 10 DOWNING STREET.

MR. PRIME MINISTER, I WISH TO CONTRIBUTE THIS DIAMOND TO THE BRITISH CAUSE FOR DEMOCRACY!

ON BEHALF OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT I SINCERELY THANK YOU FOR THIS VALUABLE GIFT, MR. MERLIN!

BIKE TIRES BUILT LIKE PLANES

SPEED

Legs driving a bike sprocket and pistons driving a crankshaft are a lot alike. Dead weight saps their energy. That's why in the newest plane engines and in U.S. Royal Rider Tires with Rayon Cord, non-working weight has been cut to zero. Result: more power per pound. More speed!

CONTROL

Note the big specially designed rudder surfaces on these speedy Army fighters. Why? Answer: speed is useless without control. Then note Royal Riders' 7 riding ribs plus two safety slot traction ribs. They control skids on wet roads or dry.

STRENGTH

Duralumin, beryllium and magnesium provide the bonework of the latest U. S. airplanes. Strength plus lightness is the order of the day. And in the U.S. Royal Rider with Rayon Cord you get just that—a bike tire built like a plane.

If you want to see something you won't forget in a month of Sundays, examine this new Royal Rider at your U.S. Bike Tire Dealer's. See all its unique performance features. Then, when you're ready for new tires, buy U.S. Royal Rider—the tire that's built like a fighter plane.
